About The Founder

Olajumoke Arije the creative Director of Olarry started loving fashion as young as 9, after her secondary school education she proceeded to learning from a road side tailor in 2007 for some months. Which helped her with extra income while studying in the University. after her University education Ola decided to go further in fashion by attending a Fashion school in Lagos state. This further grew her confidence and in 2013 she relocated to South Africa, Where she further practice her craft.

In 2015 she relocated again to the U.A.E where she worked with one of the top Fashion houses in Dubai during this period she didn't stop learning, taking courses on Fashion design and business training.
